WORLD REPORT Sheriff Injured In Maywood Brawl

By United Press International

MAYWOOD, Ill. — Police said five boys, six girls and two adults, a chain and brass knuckles were among the arsenal they confiscated at the 48 barricades that controlled traffic in and out of Maywood Sunday night. Charges included unlawful possession of arms, violation of curfew, disorderly conduct, driving with open liquor in car and refusing to obey a barricade.

Sonnet Suggests Cooperation

BELGRADE — Prof. Leonid Solov, Russian top space scientist known as the father of the Sputnik, called today for international cooperation on vastly expensive space program in future.

He urged cooperation in a speech opening the 18th congress of the International Astronautical Federation (IAF). Although he did not specifically mention Soviet-American cooperation, it may signal a breakthrough. The United States has long advocated such cooperation, but until now the Soviets have scorned it.

More than 1,000 space scientists from 39 countries were present. There were 100 from the United States, but no top names that had been expected. No exhibit and no American astronaut, as had been promised.

Convention halls bristled over who they considered an American snub.

Lake Provides Free Car Wash

PORT WASHINGTON, Wis. — Nature provides a free car wash here every once in a while.

When a strong wind blows from the northeast, Lake Michigan waves are swept up and over a road-side breakwater. Local motorists park their dry cars near the breakwater and wait in a while.

Meet Tonight

A question and answer meeting will be held by principals Mrs. Norma Magnuson, member of Prospect Heights Public Schools, and Kenneth G. Galt, District 21 supervisor.

NW Suburb Home Building Leads Six-County Area Arlington Heights Near Record Year

With Arlington Heights steadily close to an all-time record for home building in the North, Northwest Cook County towns now hold five of the top six counties in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Since the south released two cover only the first two-thirds of 1967, home building in the Chicago metropolitan area cannot establish new records this year.

Dialogue

One bill that died during the recent session of the Illinois Legislature would have required all drivers in the state to undergo a test every five years if they contributed a list to highway safety by making certain everyone kept up with the constant evolution of traffic laws.

Some drivers just haven't learned that the lever projecting from the left side of the steering post turns on the automatic turn signals. And quite a few others must think those white signs at the side of the road, the ones with the numbers on them, are advertising something.

We also note that another highway repeal law has been proposed. At a recent convention of the American Psychological Association in Washington, D.C., Mrs. Virginia Selir, a psychiatric social worker at the Institute, Mt. St. Clare, Calif., suggested that marriage laws should be changed and marriage should become a five-year renewable contract.

So it is obvious that if the two proposals ever become laws, things could get interesting.

Imagine this if some breakfast table some morning somewhere:

"Hi, Jim."

"Hi, Marsha."

"You forgot, this is the day you're supposed to go down to the license bureau. The five years are up."

"Oh sure Marsha, I agree, I suggest that the other day."

She's expecting me.

"Oh I'm so glad you remembered, George."

"I wouldn't forget that, see you tonight, Marsha."

"George, did you...?"

"You Marsha, I got there on time."

"I must admit, I was nervous all day, I was so afraid you wouldn't be. It's our fifth anniversary and you wouldn't have my marriage renewed."

"Marriage? - I went down to take my driver's test!"

At least one-third of the trees for the year 2000 in the three towns are already growing. More than a third of the trees for the year 2000 in Rolling Meadows are now growing because most of the town's trees are less than ten years old and will just be reaching maturity at the end of this century. Our major shade tree has now grown to 100 years old.

"Set 'em Up in the Other Alley."

Take the three towns together, the tree is so frequently seen in 2000 will likely be the maple, Norway, silver and the maple should have a clear lead in Rolling Meadows where there are few vines which due to Dutch elm disease had fallen into disfavor before Rolling Meadows plantings began.

In Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect the elm will still be an important shade tree in 2000 and might even be the most numerous. With annual losses of only 1 to 2 per cent, Arlington Heights could have 7,000 to 8,000 elm trees. With a total population of 25,000 in 2000, only the maple will have a chance to be more numerous. The same could be true of Mount Prospect where an aggressive control program for elm disease is also in effect.

WITH PERHAPS 55,000 of the trees that will be growing in the three towns in 2000 will be the same, what kind of shade trees are available, and most likely to be added to the tree population?

The Mount Prospect location south on Route 33 near Elmhurst, has 40-acre tract of country shade trees for this area. There are 100 different ones to be seen. They have been growing since 1958. Walter E. Eichhorn, the curator of cultivated plants for the arboretum, has worked with the demonstration from the beginning.

The super maple is the best shade tree for this area. It is the maple with the brilliant fall colors. This tree will reach a height of 65 to 70 feet and can give up to 100 years of service, says Eichhorn. "It can be a specimen tree."

The Shuman elm, which is an example of small shade trees for this area. The tree will mature at a height of 25 feet. QUICK-GROWING - The silver maple is a fast growing tree that will be a major tree in ten or fifteen years. It will last for 30 to 50 years and at times it may not be the best shade tree for this area. The tree will mature at a height of 25 feet. FOR THOSE who will be making the decision on the tree yet to be planned for the year 2000, the tree, the Morton curator offers these recommendations:

FULL-SIZED SHADE TREES - Along with the super maple other highly efficient shade trees include the pine and burr oak, the coffee tree, the iron tree, the Norway maple, the holly magnolia and the ginkgo tree. For most areas the silver tree is as colorful, having a tree that is not wide but which will attain a height of up to 140 feet. Only the male ginkgo tree should be used.

MEDIUM-SIZED TREES - The honey locust, the ash and the Bradford Calery Pear are trees that will grow 40 to 50 feet tall. There are new selections of the locust such as Green Glory selected in the Chicago area which are proving highly useful as new plantings of shade trees.

SMALL-SIZED TREES - The Shuman elm, which is an example of small shade trees for this area. The tree will mature at a height of 25 feet.

Day by Day

No Music Lover He

By Catherine O'Donnell

When friends from Barrington gave the Richard Kernen family of NAWA's in Mount Prospect a fluffy little bird, no one could have guessed that nine years later would descend on the household because of the cat.

The cat was named Figaro, probably after the one in Pinocchio. It was a good thing, too, because Figaro did not grow up to be a music lover. As a matter of fact, when he was about a year old, he discovered the magic of electricity. That by jumping he could reach the fumes and turn off the lights.

No one taught him that the little button on the wall would cause the lights to go out. It was Figaro who started him on his way to being a musical celebrity. If Mrs. Kernen was running the vacuum cleaner and Figaro was taking a nap, she had to keep one eye on the "know" that by jumping he could sleep one eye on her and if she left the vacuum unattended, he turned it off.

IT WAS a strictly long hair when the hair was playing a lovely recording. If the music got too loud, off it went. You can imagine what that did to the Beatles and their imitators before they got folk.

His fame began one evening when the Keren were at a party. The conversation turned to the animal world and the incredible intelligence of dogs. Mrs. Kernen related a few facts by Figaro.

ONE OF the guests happened to be a working newspaper man from Chicago. He visited Figaro and wrote about him. He referred to him as a "white-bird."

The story appeared one day in August. The family was vacationing in California and they were surprised indeed when they saw a picture of Figaro in the Los Angeles Mirror, turning off the lights back home.

They saw him again in San Diego. When they returned, they had calls from people who had seen Figaro in various papers. He was in Boston and last week he appeared Cleveland. Ohio newspaper readers.

Figaro can read so he doesn't know just how famous he is. If he had known he'd probably have employed a publicity agent.

Figaro is a most unusual cat and no one realizes it more than Barbara, who is now the University of Iowa. Diverse from Sacred Heart High School and Michael from St. Raymond School.

GET READY — Catherine's Aunt from Brazil, "where the music came from," is coming to visit this weekend at the Arlington High School Theatre.

The play which is beginning to rival The Drunkard in the number of performances given since it was written in 1847, is the opening offering of the versatile Village.

Theatre, Inc. of Arlington Heights.

The first performances will be on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 20 and 21 at 8:30 p.m. The following weekend, Oct. 28 and 29, Charles' Aunt will follow the same schedule except that Sunday's performance will begin at 7:30 p.m.

THE VILLAGE Theatre production directed by Robert Glaser has given Charles' Aunt a completely new look. It will be done in mod dress. The older generation will appear dressed as they look to the younger generation and the younger generation will dress as they look to the older generation.

The unusual costume treatment should add the right touch of spice to a script that has never grown old. Douglas Penner will play Lord Fancourt who impersonates the agent from South America.

Others in the cast are Shelly Perrier, Pam Weir, Marce Voshberg, Bruce Rivestier, Jim White, David Silver, Bob Rundolph and Dave Dove. Director Glaser has promised a surprise act for the part of Sir Francis.

WILL THE little theatre's penchant for the unusual it pretends to offensively over the box office would like the people who are the patrons to call her at CL 9-3200.

Politics Attend Clinic

Robert M. Haskell, principal of Elm Grove High School, and Marj Glase, social studies teacher, Language division head, are among the 330 delegates attending the "Clinic on Political Action" in St. Louis. The political clinic, sponsored by the Citizenship Commission of the National Education Association, is designed to encourage teacher participation in politics.

Haskell, who is chairman of the Illinois Education Association Citizenship Commission, will be a chairman of one of the discussion sessions of all participating groups at the national clinic.

THE IEA Citizenship Commission is made up of 22 members and currently is writing guide lines for political action and will be in charge of future state action.

"Illinois," says Haskell, "is probably short of most states in setting up citizenship committees and having teachers take part in politics."

The main goal of these clinics on both the national and state level is to encourage teachers not only to register, vote, and be informed, but to take an active role by running for various political offices.

"Teachers have been about too long from the political arena as if they were no business in it. They have a right to and they should be politically as any professional group," says Haskell.

Dr. R. C. Schultz Leaves on Tour

He will present papers before the Tenth Street Society, University of Uppsala, Sweden and at the 13th International Congress of Plastic Surgery in Rome.

Dr. Schultz also will participate in a program for the teaching of and reconstructive surgery, sponsored by the African Medical and Research Foundation in Nairobi, Kenya.

Day by Day

Second Edition of New Horizons

By Catherine O'Donnell

The winter season has really begun now in the park district and school districts have sent out brochures describing what to do and where to go. In addition to the varied and numerous learning sessions at the local high schools, the park program film in all of the empty hours, offering morning pleasured, afternoon senior citizens get-togethers, a place called the Side Door for junior high youngsters on Friday night and even a dog obedience class in case Fido gets bored.

One of the most interesting programs beginning in second year as a community education feature is the St. Viator sponsored "New Horizons." It opens tonight at the school, Dryden and Oakton, at 8 P.M. with the Russian film, "The Cruises are Flying." The movie was a triple winner at the Cannes Festival in 1957 for best picture, best director and best actress. The new Horizons this year is under the direction of Father Frank Schooley. Besides tonight's offering there will be five other films and four lectures. The films are: "Vagabond," "The Virgin Spring," "It's a Girl," "The Movie Director" by Akira Kurosawa from Italy, "Ammonites," "L'Aventure," and "Fellini's Naples of Color" is and the controversial "La Dolce Vita."

After the showing of each film the audience will be led in a discussion by James Wickham, faculty member of Notre Dame High School.

Four lectures sponsored between the films are "Tenth Day of Christmas and Tomorrow," Doctor Robert Barry, associate Professor of Philosophy at Loyola will be the speaker. "Catholic Schools and Teachers' Unions" by the President of the Archdiocesan Teachers' Federation, James Keane, will be followed by "The Role of the Christian in Social Conflict" with Otto Liepmann, a field worker for the Catholic Peace Fellowship in Chicago. The last lecturer will be Dr. Martin E. Marty, whose topic will be "Tomorrow's Church: Several Scenarios." Dr. Marty is the former pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit in Elm Grove and a professor of Modern Church History at the University of Chicago Divinity School. The cost is $1 for each program or $4 for the series. They will be held at the same time each Tuesday.

More information can be had by calling Father Frank Schooley at 392-4050. The series is quite a bargain and extremely convenient.

PARADE IN THREE DAYS

All praise to Mr. Prospect for a splendid weekend celebration of their birthday. One spectacular call to report that "Doc, Dave and Dan drove deftly down the street as a dapper horse and buggy at the head of the parade on a dazzling day. Doc, who dawdled did not drive with them." The real names of the delightful, dynamic, double duo were Dan Congreve, Dave Rogers, Don Summell and Dick Ogilvie. Dan, Dave, Don and Dick looked like a dignified disintegration from Dime-n-coop—Republican Headquarters. The caller explained that Richard Ogilvie arrived after the bugle sounded, thus the parade began with the three D's. (Repeat).

AND IN THE MEANTIME A very note was arrived from Arlington High School freshman, Kris Rongner saying "thanks." Kris is one of the organizers for the high school group of girls who could find no leader. "We now have an adviser," she writes. "She is Mrs. Adrienne Krins. We also have an assistant adviser, Miss Cynthia Carlson." Have a wonderful year.

ALSO IN THE MAILBOX
Someone from the United States Post Office had better get over to the attractive outdoor post office that operates solely on electricity in the Randhurst parking lot near Montgomery Ward. The special delivery stamp machine is creditably accurate and a dime and refuse to return the meter upon a stamp. Nice thing about that huge gusher in the center of an empty parking lot on a Sunday evening is that you can call it anything you like as long as you like.

MR. AND MRS. ROGER ALAN LINDSTROM

Miss Catherine Ann Banta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas Banta of Springfield, Mo., became the bride of Roger Alan Lindstrom of Arlington Heights August 26 in a double ring ceremony at Christ Episcopal Church, Springfield. The Rev. Canon George A. Wilson performed the ceremony and a sister of the bride, Mrs. John J. Wilson, acted as maid of honor. The bride wore a street-length dress of Chantilly lace, designed in a fitted silhouette, with an all over pattern of narrow gossamer ribbon tied at intervals in dusty bows. The square neck and long-fitted sleeves complemented the design. A Dior bow of white satin secured her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a white prayer book topped with a decorative rose with traceries of roses, and tied with white velvet ribbon.

How to buy and sew on Perma-perm fabric was one of many topics given by Joan Rushton, Asst. Cook County Home Advisor, to the more than 60 members of Homemaker clubs from Arlington Heights, Elk Grove and Mount Prospect at their combined meeting last week at Mount Prospect Country Club.

Miss Rushton suggested that before buying Perma-perm fabric you check the grain line to be sure it is not off-grain. Stitch length for sewing should be 10 stitches per inch and tension and pressure should be 10 stitches per inch and a synthetic thread.

She also suggested the use of synthetic thread with this type of material. Because it is not easy to get a sharp crease in Perma-perm fabric, "it is a good idea to select a pattern with few seams and few darts," she said.

Dialogue

"Aha, the fact that you bought an expensive gift proves you really love me. These things just could become a monstrous response given and more valuable gifts if the conclusions of Perry Schwartz of the University of Pennsylvania become generally accepted."

Writing in The American Journal of Sociology, Schwartz cites evidence which he claims proves that gift giving is just as often hostile as it is friendly.

He refers to modern-day examples as well as the traditional one, the aggressive exchange of gifts among the Northwest Coast Indians of America, sometimes called the

"Polish Indians"

The Polish tribes used to try to win the friendship of each other by meeting instead and exchanging gifts. The gifts, the more the tribe was trying to show it didn't want war, even if both sides handed each other, and they usually

The trouble was, each side began to worry that the other was trying to outdo it. And so each side began to give more and more valuable gifts. Arguing about who was a bigger giver than the other sometimes led to the fight they wanted to avoid in the first place.

Gift exchange would develop when one tribe had no more possessions to give to prevent war. (It is probably inevitable that a comparison will be made between the Great White Father in Washington and the Great Red Father in Moscow.)

Other examples given by Schwartz include the idea that a gift is sometimes a form of self-punishment when it represents the donor's conscious self-sacrifice.

Schwartz says that strong-givers, among other things, take pleasure in the pain never to let followers pay off all his gifts. Gifts to children are frequently used as a form of punishment, he says ("Johnny and Daddy are giving you a present even though you've been a bad boy"), for which the child may seek vengeance in later life by presenting "delicious" gifts to the parents, "recognizing" occasions as Mother's Day and Father's Day.

...with George Hamilton

And the "gesture of all gifts - giving," Santa Claus says, "is the power of self-control and ability to grant without benefit," is used by parents as an instrument of control over children.

Finally, if Schwartz is correct, the traditional gold watch given upon retirement may not be the truest item it was once thought to be. According to Schwartz, the retirement gift means "Good riddance."

Who's Shouting ...!

We have been thinking of our two U.S. Senators going along in perfect harmony as a well-coordinated team, with Junior sitting at Senator's knee hungry for words of political wisdom enunciated sonorously in organ tones.

Consequently we were startled by this report in the Insider's Newsletter:

"An angry face - to face confrontation between Illinois Republican Sen. Charles Perry and Everett Dirksen, in Dirksen's office last week, was what quashed the old man's opposition to Perry's favorite-son candidacy at the 1968 GOP convention."

"In a reversal of recent efforts to put down his ambitious colleague, Dirksen yielded - in a raucous shouting match - before a tough verbal onslaught from Perry, who hammered home two points."

"(1) Dirksen, 71, is likely to find himself running against Adlai Stevenson III, 36, for his Senate seat next year - is a parallel to Perry's own youth - vs. a 'big' Senator against Paul Douglas - and will need all the help he can get. (2) Dirksen would appear greedy in seeking both the favorite-son nomination and the chairmanship of the Illinois delegation."

Although we find the Insider's Newsletter a sprightly and stimulating periodical, we cannot vouch for its reportorial accuracy. And we're not sure either of its political affiliation - or even if it has one.

But assuming the confrontation story has some basis in fact, it is not necessarily discouraging. Actually, we find reassurance in the suggestion that our senators have minds of their own and yet the good sense to seek their differences between themselves - even if it takes a shouting match.

Stamping Out Bad Image

It seems a lot of his admirers feel that George Washington hasn't been done right by on or five-cent stamp. It is issuing a new stamp in November will another picture of Washington on it and that this time it's going to be "stamped up" and looking good, as a counterforce to the bad image.

"This another crisis in fact. But it seems easy for a stamp designer, critics like the postal authorities with all their power on a postage stamp is bound to be a licking."

Attends English Institute

Bruce Berend, teacher at St. Paul Lutheran School in Mount Pleasant, has returned from a eight week institute for advanced study in English at Teachers College, Columbia University, N.Y.

The institute was offered for elementary school teachers and teachers. They were informed about the recent findings in such disciplines as linguistics, psychology and speech. The program included study in language and teaching and a new linguistic approach to English grammar called center analysis.

The Why of Teachers Gripes

BY BRUCE BROGAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) The teachers' revolt is probably going to be the worst since that it is now, so we might as well try to understand it a little better.

For one thing, there are about 600,000 more teachers on the same today in public schools than there were a little more than a decade ago. This increase of 50 per cent gives them the strength of real numbers (15 million), and they are obviously minded to use it.

For another, schoolteaching is no longer the special province of a few enterprising young things and middle-aged ladies. Nearly a third of public schoolteachers are men today, and a high proportion of these are married and have children.

THE YOUNG men with heavy economic burdens undoubtedly account for much of the militancy that has swept into the teaching field-but not all of it. An educational source says that a careful look at teacher-picket lines invariably discloses a healthy sprinkling of lady veterans who just seem fed up with conditions.

The big complaint is really a double one. Teachers are supposed to comprise a profession, yet for the most part they have neither money nor the social status they believe go with it.

They are surpassed in average annual earnings by doctors, dentists, lawyers, architects, engineers, scientists, accountants, chemists, osteopaths, veterinarians, optometrists, pharmacists, for instance.

BEING THUS disadvantaged relative to other professionals, many seek outside sources of income—especially on a part-time basis—to ease their burdens. But most teachers do not make enough extra each year to help very much.

Public schoolteachers' average annual salaries today are about the $7,000 mark. The regional range is in considerable variance, with California highest at $8,450 and Mississippi lowest at $4,650. In the 10 years 1957-67, these salaries rose more than 60 per cent in dollar terms. But, when corrected for changes in buying power, the gain amounted to 40 per cent.

Propositions to gain in other occupations, the teachers have to be remembered that they are not alone in being out of the back. And they still are not close to being even with those they regard as their professional counterparts.

MANY educators would say, however, that the main problem also lies very deep with teachers. This is a country that has never quite lived down the old axiom: "Those who can, do; those who can't, teach."

Some analyses believe that more than a little of the militancy which shows itself in strikes, picket lines, confrontations and other evidence of aggressive teacher behavior is the response of the aggrieved person seeking higher status and recognition.

Teachers have other things on their minds—their need for professional maintenance, for dealing better with disruptive, disoriented pupils, for getting and really using the equipment.

BUT ARGUMENT over these problems is daily won't be secure if they had money and status. They do not make much more than factory workers, they are expected to act with the decorum of college presidents, and they are being so intensely

DOCTOR SAYS

Nails Are Reinforced By Fingernail Polish

W. G. BLANDFORD, M.D.

Q—My nails are flexible and chip and peel easily. What can I use to hold them strong?

A—This condition is sometimes caused by cell growth or degeneration. Since cell growth requires one or more coats without removing the polish directly on your nails. Nail hardeners are available but they usually contain formaldehyde and may cause severe irritation of the adjacent cuticle and skin.

For this reason they must be used with caution.

Q—What would cause the nails on both my big toes to not swell? What can be done for them?

A—The most likely causes are fungus and infection, exposure to harmful chemicals and diabetes. The treatment would depend on the cause.

Q—What causes numerous white spots on the fingernails? Why do they clear up as you grow older?

A—These white spots are due to a small amount of air between the nail bed and the nail. The air gets there by means of chemical changes in the nail bed that are not well understood. What they should be treated is one age, then another is anybody's guess.

Q—I found my outside nail is not so well swollen. I have discovered that this is caused by the cleaning powder with chlorine bleach I have been using. I have tried to clear up the infection. What would you suggest?

A—If you have used a nail polish remover, you may have an allergic reaction to it. Try an antibiotic, such as neomycin or ampicillin, to clear up.

School Scaled To Size

BY MARELYN HELPERS

A new nursery school went into operation in Arlington Heights Monday morning. Under the direction of Mrs. Marilyn Olsson, Cedar Nursery School at 1622 N. Rand Rd. opened its doors to 3 and 4-year-old boys and girls on a half-day program.

Mrs. Olsson said that according to state regulations, a nursery school can not advertise until it is in operation. She decided to open the school in Arlington Heights for two reasons; because she and her family live here and because she felt there was a need for such an area here. Mrs. Olsson formerly taught in a Glenview nursery school.

ACCORDING TO Mrs. Olsson, "The goal of the school is to provide an environment in which a child can grow and develop at his own rate of growth. The physical environment is scaled to his size, the materials are selected so that the child can experiment with them, learn from them and be successful."

"The atmosphere is one with carefully defined limits in which a child can feel free to explore and grow. Creative materials and stories are used to enrich and to make the emotions."

"YOUNG children are energetic and eager to investigate," she said. "They are growing. They are learning from their environment as they never will again. Play is the child's means of discovery, of communication and of expression."

"With guidance and adequate equipment can open the door for a child to a world where he can unfold and learn to understand himself and those with whom he lives," she continued.

"I feel there is a need in any community for a program rich in creative expression with an education program geared to the preschool child," said Mrs. Olsson. "A good parent should search for a child's experiences and not merely discover them as he has. I suggest that parents considering nursery school for their child should spend a morning at school to see what is being done," said Mrs. Olsson.

A Hearty Way To Start A Big Day

Breakfast should be the best meal of the day. After a night's fast, nearly everyone feels hungry, and a hearty breakfast helps get the day off to a good start.

Pancakes is one time were considered one of the greatest foods, but today's restaurants now serve pancakes almost every now, every hour of the day. Corn cakes wrapped around spicy, well-browned fresh pork sausage links served with maple syrup and fried apple slices is a combination worthy of the finest pancake house.

Pork sausage links give this breakfast the much needed protein and the staying power necessary to ride out the day with no mid-morning nap.

PORK SAUSAGE CORN CAKE BOLL UPS

- 1 pound pork or ground pork sausage
- 2 eggs prepared pancake mix
- 1 egg yellow or white separated
- 2 cups shredded cheese
- 2-1/2 cups milk
- 1/4 cup melted shortening or margarine
- 1/2 cup salt, cornmeal and sugar, stir in egg, half of the milk and shortening. Blend in remaining milk and shortening. Fry in moderately hot fat. Roll cakes around links, serve with syrup and fried apples. Makes 16 pancake roll ups.

Here are old-fashioned food favorites with a new twist. Corn cakes are rolled around tender, well-browned, fresh pork sausage links and served with maple syrup and fried apple slices. A rice-and-onion breakfast worth waking up for.

Shirley, If You Had But Known

BY BETTY CANARY

After months of antsy wondering "will she or won't she," both Republicans and Democrats' party leaders heard Shirley Temple Black declare her candidacy.

Everyone, especially the opposition within her own party, had spent months searching for books and scrutinizing the Constitution, but nowhere could they find that a woman candidate had to prove she had (1) an ugly face; (2) no record as a movie star; (3) an unhappy home life; or (4) no money.

Those on the side naturally were happy about this and said, "If she wins the first race, my party would vote for her because what woman would vote for the girl who has everything?"

IMMEDIATELY, the Democrats put a frantic knock out on Jane Withers. Opposition Republicans wondered why they had not thought of this in the first place. Also, nobody has yet found Jane Withers and her good to that she was last seen on a television commercial showing the law how to use a certain brand of scouring powder.

"Anyway, how do you know Jane would not if you could not?" the Democrats were asked. "Perhaps the does not belong to your party."

"Party schmarz," they replied. "Of course, she will not. Remember that the adored in all those pictures every 'my party would vote for her because what woman would vote for the girl who has everything'?"

"BUT WHAT if Jane won and this party would be over. She would get a bid for the Senate."

"She would get it. Then she would not be the girl who has everything but every the girl with the nose."

It was pointed out that then both parties would be over. Rock would have a child star on the national scene.

"That would never do! Of course, we could run Deanna Durbin for the House of Representatives."

"WELL, DON'T be too confident - there's always Gloria Jean!"

"Loss of the younger voters won't know who they are. How about Ann Byrd and Katherine Grayson?"

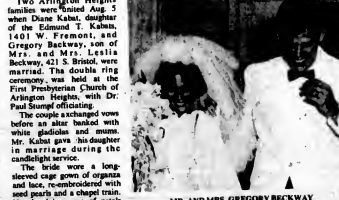

"Sorry about that."

"Yes, yes. We have to update. How about Debbie Reynolds and Elizabeth Taylor?"

"Look, put it a thought we were talking about a contest - you see you want to start a war?"

Wildcat Back Jack Bastable Named Day's Athlete of Week

Jack Bastable has been named the Days Athlete of the Week.

Bastable earned the honor by coaching the Wheeling Wildcats to a 2-0 win over Forest last Saturday. The win came just a week after the Wildcats lost to the Forest, 21-14, on Friday.

His talents are evident in the game. He threw for 23 yards and ran for 40 yards. He also threw two touchdowns and ran for another two.

Coach Bill Daisiak values Bastable more as a running back, but because he considers him one of the "two best runners in the league," Daisiak considers Coach Meyer, who will be Bastable's running back to the other.

Bastable also coaches the Wildcats' place kicking.

His talents are evident in the game. He threw for 23 yards and ran for 40 yards. He also threw two touchdowns and ran for another two.

Coach Bill Daisiak values Bastable more as a running back, but because he considers him one of the "two best runners in the league," Daisiak considers Coach Meyer, who will be Bastable's running back to the other.

Bastable also coaches the Wildcats' place kicking.

Shaving Strokes by Frank Beard

The Lob Shot

The lob shot is somewhat more difficult to execute than the other shots that can be used around the green. However, it is really a stroke that can be used in a variety of situations.

There are several adjustments that must be made to execute this shot correctly. The first is to make sure that the club is in the right position.

Off-the-Farm 4-H Projects

With the expansion of 4-H into the industry and cities, certain projects are being offered to the city-dweller to pursue. One of them is home improvement.

Any boy or girl between 9 and 19 can enroll in 4-H, says the Cooperative Extension Service. Information about joining can be obtained from the county extension office located at 351 N. Dunston, Arlington Heights, 253-6660.

ANNUAL awards and educational aids are provided by the program sponsor, the S & H Foundation, Inc. in November national scholarships of $500 each will be awarded for the six most outstanding projects in the 50 states and Puerto Rico. Winners will be announced at the 45th National 4-H club Congress in Chicago, the week following Thanksgiving.

The home improvement program offers a variety of individual projects to all 4-H'ers, regardless of residence. Some 4-H members spend a year or more on a main project such as remodeling or redecorating and furnishing their own bedrooms. Others work with their parents to improve the entire home's interior and exterior.

One of the key strengths of the village form of government, which Arlington Heights and some neighboring communities have, is that it uses the experience and knowledge of its citizens—citizens for free.

Policies and ordinances which affect every citizen are first handled by one of the village's boards or commissions—whose members are paid about $10 for each three- or four-hour session. The Arlington Heights commission which deals with the building and subdivision of its business, is the plan commission.

THE COMMISSION, consisting of a chairman and 12 members, is appointed by the village president with the advice and consent of the village board of trustees.

The village president and the president of the board of local improvements are ex-officio members of the commission.

THE LOCAL agenda gives the plan commission the broad areas of power:

—To prepare and recommend to the board of trustees the village's comprehensive plan of local improvements.

—To prepare and recommend to the board of trustees the village's comprehensive plan of local improvements.

—To prepare and recommend to the board of trustees the village's comprehensive plan of local improvements.

—To prepare and recommend to the trustees changes in the plan, provided they do not affect the general principles of the plan adopted.

—To prepare and recommend to the trustees plans for specific improvements within the limits of the comprehensive plan.

—To aid village officials who are responsible with the directors of local improvements.

—To review and advise the village on the plans of buildings and subdivisions.

THE DECISIONS of the plan commission, unlike those of the board of local improvements, are subject to the approval of the board of trustees.

In addition to Village President John O. Woods and the President of the board of local improvements, Robert R. Koller, the present plan commission has nine members and a chairman.

Fred Ansel, an electrical engineer, is chairman. Commission members are James Ryan, a lawyer; Leo Thompson, a lawyer; Leo Mueller, a banker; Charles Calkin, an architect; William Plummer, an insurance agent; Victor Butler, a real estate officer for a private company; and Robert R. Koller, from the marketing department of a private company.

The appointment of members in the plan commission is staggered but the tenure of their position is six years.

Citizens--Backbone of a Village

Members of the Arlington Heights Plan Commission, in one of the various functions of the public body, last night deliberated on the final plan for the village. The new ordinance will define the areas open to building during heavy rainfall while Arlington Heights will improve building restrictions there. The commission was recently informed by the village board of trustees to prepare the ordinance according to specifications provided by the Metropolitan Planning District of Greater Chicago. Listed members of the commission are: John Calkin, John Butler, village planning engineer and consultant to the commission; Robert Thompson, John May, recording secretary; Fred Ansel, chairman; Sam Rudder, Harold Carlson and Vic Butler.

Hersey Colors Get OK

Color schemes for classrooms, lockers, night and day, and the school's new color scheme for the year 1968-69 were approved by the board of trustees of the Township High School District 214.

Combinations of olive green, gold, pumpkin and off-white will dominate the interior of the building.

The school, now under construction at Willow Rd., east of Rand Rd. in Arlington Heights, is scheduled to open in 1968.

Architect Wayne Frisch of Bergr, Kelley, United, Scott & Assoc., and the color scheme was approved by the board of trustees.

Seating in the auditorium will be covered with a fabric of an orange and "pumpkin" shades and the metal section of the seats will be painted orange.

Other schools in the district are: Arlington, Prospect, Forest View, Wheeling and Elk Grove High Schools.

Marine Corps program in the greater Chicago area. Bond has a listing record of approximately 100,000 and recent effort to be set as host at a dinner in Crystal Lake for 60 wounded Marine veterans of Vietnam now convalescing at the Great Lakes Naval Hospital.

How to add
$500 to $1,000 to your present salary

You can do it without getting a raise or seeking a better job. Suppose you are making $10,000 a year and are approximately one-fourth (which is the national average) is tied up in installment payments.

If you are paying only 20 per cent for the use of this money (which is a modest figure), this means that it is costing you $500 just for interest and carrying charges. If you earn $20,000, the amount doubles to $1,000.

You can add this money to your current income by building up savings so that the money is in hand when the time comes to buy. This is really the smart way to do things.

Just once in a lifetime a chance opens along for an individual or a group to do something really fine for the neighborhood. ## The City of Des Plaines - A Long History, Still Growing Des Plaines can trace its name back to 1787, when the young Congress of the United States enacted an ordinance affecting the territorial status of the Midwest region, including Illinois. The wooded Illinois prairie west of Lake Michigan, astride a winding river of scenic beauty, was called Aux Plaines by the French, and from it came the present name, Des Plaines.

Settlers from the east began arriving here back in 1832, following Blackhawk War. The present city became the Town of Rand in 1837 and the name was changed to Des Plaines in 1869. A year later the population had reached 900. It is now near 51,000.

Growth of the city can be traced to two main developments, the coming of the Chicago and North Western Railroad in 1833 and the construction of O'Hare Field in the 1930s. Des Plaines has now become self-sustaining city of fine residences, industrial might, and an abundance of business and trade facilities.

The fine home shown below once belonged to George Kinder, Mayor of Des Plaines some 40 years ago. It is located at 777 Lee St., and plans were begun this week to convert it into a historical museum, depicting the entire history of Des Plaines.

Support Legislation To Combat Fraudulent Land Sales by Mail

Support of federal legislation which would aid in halting use of the mails in the fraudulent sale of land was expressed recently in congressional testimony by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, Katherine Watson, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors said today.

The bill (S. 274) would authorize the Post Office Department to stop the use of the mails upon evidence of a misrepresentation of a material fact in advertising the sale of land or any other commodity. Wording of the proposed measure would make it clear that the intent of the person making deceptive statements is irrelevant to the enforcement of law. Currently, intent to defraud on the part of the advertiser must be proven before the Post Office can act.

Explaining the reasons for NAREB's support of federal legislation, the NAREB spokesman before the Senate committee said, "While a state can effectively regulate subdivisions within the state or advertisements placed in the state for out-of-state developments, the state has no power to police the mail that enters or leaves its boundaries."

ACCORDING TO Mrs. Watson, NAREB's interest in the bill stems from its long-standing concern with the problems of fraudulent land sales by mail. "Fraudulent land sales not only reflect on the real estate profession as a whole but are a violation of Articles 3 and 4 of our Association's Code of Ethics."

Mrs. Watson pointed out that the Code of Ethics declares, "It is the duty of the Realtor to protect the public against fraud, misrepresentation, or unethical practices in the real estate field. He should endeavor to eliminate in his community any practices which could be damaging to the public or to the dignity and integrity of the real estate profession."

She noted, however, that the question is often asked, "How can the Realtor protect the public?"

REALTORS HAVE two basic guidelines on their Code. First is Commentaries on the Code of Ethics, written by NAREB's executive vice - president Eugene P. Connet; and second is the book, Interpretations of the Code of Ethics, compiled by NAREB's Committee on Professional Standards.

Mrs. Watson said the Commentaries declares the Realtor can, among other actions, help his local board establish proper machinery so that officers and committeemen can be advised of improper practices and, without embarrassment, take action to correct or prevent them. Noted also is the fact that "no board may retain its charter except it is enforce the Code of Ethics."

"Realtors do not take their code of Ethics lightly," Mrs. Watson said, and cited the facts of one case discussed in the book. Interpretations of the Code of Ethics. A Realtor was charged with a "give-away" practice damaging to the dignity of the real estate profession because he sent a recent home buyer a rose bush with the message that the business relationship had been a pleasant one and wishing the buyer happiness in his new home.

"IN THIS CASE, the Realtor was estimated since the small gift was interpreted simply as an acceptable good-will gesture," Mrs. Watson reported, "but the case does underscore the fact that Realtors are extremely aware of their pledge to uphold their code and are diligent in their policing of it."

In another similar case, an offer of an expensive "gift," made prior to the actual purchase of a home, drew a reprimand for the offender and an order to discontinue the practice.

Appointed Representative Of National Institute

Jack Keller of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors has been appointed local representative of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers, the Headquarters Office in Chicago has announced.

The Institute — composed of 16,000 Realtors — is the largest affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and has as its main objective education of its members to serve the public better.

One of Keller's most important duties will be to stimulate panel discussions on brokerage problems at real estate board meetings and during the state conventions. Through such discussions, Realtors are kept constantly up-to-date on new and proven methods in the way of realty advertising, financing and taxation. They are thus better able to serve the public in home buying and other realty investments.

Omar Calzaretta is membership chairman for the State of Illinois.

Keller is a past president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors and is currently a director of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards. He has been an active member of the board since 1957 and during that time has served on 12 board committees, as a director and through all of the offices of the board, as well as on seven state committees and two national committees.

Keller is a partner of F.B.K., Inc., Realtors, with offices in Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

Need Pool Cover? Just Pour One

With "Instant" everything else available these days, why not an instant building?

No sooner said than done. Ferro Corporation of Cleveland has announced its latest development, inflatable buildings of polyester-impregnated fiberglass.

Very little pressure is required to inflate or lift a structure of the material, about two or three pounds per square foot, which is about the same weight of the material itself.

For your heavy-duty project, it's worth knowing a 50-foot diameter dome can handle in two days. A half-mile structural dome designed to enclose an athletic city might take as long as eight to 10 days. Some potential uses are suggested: warehouses, cover for swimming pools, for tennis courts. The translucent material, when cured by ultra-violet radiation, is claimed to resist combustion, and must be cut with a hot wire or diamond saw.

NEAR PROSPECT HIGH

The Burglar and You

Make your home difficult to burglarize.

The door chain is a popular device which permits the door to be opened part way to identify a caller but prevents him from pushing open the door the rest of the way. The average chain lock, however, must be opened from the inside—making it inconvenient to use if some member of the household is out late and will not return until everyone else is asleep.

There are chain latches now, however, which can be unlocked from the outside with the proper key.

Don't neglect the windows while securing the doors. The average window lock will work only when the window is completely closed. If you want to have a window partially open at night for ventilation but wish to have the protection of a lock, there are special window locks available.

Some work like a barrel bolt which slides in and out of an opening, others are spring loaded bolts and a few can be had with keys.

IF YOU ARE going to be away for any length of time you should be concerned with more than locks. Do not draw shades completely. Leave them partially up and a light or two burning somewhere inside the house.

If you will be on a vacation, use a timing device to turn lights on in the evening and off again in the morning.

Stop deliveries during vacations. Do not let newspapers and mail accumulate.

Have a neighbor check your house now and then. Arrange to have the lawn trimmed and watered. Lock windows on upper floors. Lock the garage.

NO LOCK WILL stop a determined burglar, but a good lock on every door might make him look for easier pickings. Most burglars would rather try to enter where it can be done with a minimum of bother and noise.

Locks should secure all entrances, not just the front door. There is little point in protecting one entrance when easy access can be gained through a screen door secured with nothing more than a hook and eye.

Although few homes use the sort of lock that can be opened with a skeleton key, too many have a night latch when the door is slammed shut. Now the lock for cost of these - a cylinder lock - is a good one, and not likely to be picked.

BUT THE LATCH itself is no problem for a skillful burglar. The latch has a sloping face so that it slides back and forth when the door is closed. A burglar can move the latch back with a piece of this plastic or metal.

Replace such a latch with a deadlock. This has a square or barrel bolt that cannot be slipped aside. To lock it from the outside, a key must be used.

If there is a glass panel in the door a burglar can work a deadlock by smashing the glass and reaching his hand through to work the lock from the inside. If this is the case, install a lock with a double cylinder so that a key must be used inside as well as outside.

Electric Fireplace

If you wonder where the chimney went, when you visit your neighbor's new home, and you don't spot any dirty logs, dust or soot, the answer is probably a simple one: he's installed the full-size electric fireplace, now available, called the FAS-GLO. It even provides the aroma of wood and the crackling sound of burning logs.

Watch the Finish

"Start with the finish" sounds like double-talk, but not when you're speaking of furniture. Leading manufacturers of furniture care products advise that most furniture is already sealed with lacquer to protect the wood. Simply use the product that gives it the look or better you want.

Storage Makes Sense

You can add appeal to your home and expand the use of many idle corners by planning some built-in storage closets, or shelves. A closet sewing unit is possible, perhaps in an unused linen closet. A table can be hinged behind the door, a ironing board attached, a pegboard used for yard good materials in work, etc.

Replace Broken Window Yourself to Save Money

Replacing a broken window is not a difficult task.

One thing about a broken window—it's never just a little bit broken. Cracked or smashed to pieces, it needs replacement.

While having the window pane replaced at the local hardware store is one way of doing it, this means removing the sash—more work than putting in new glass yourself. You can also have someone come out to the house, but this can be expensive and the job is not that difficult.

You needn't even cut the new glass yourself (although you can if you wish). Most hardware stores will cut glass to size. All you have to do is supply the dimensions.

To get the proper dimensions, measure the inside of the sash opening and subtract one-eighth inch from both length and width. Wood will expand and contract with changing weather conditions and leaving the glass slightly under size will prevent cracking.

THE SASH will have to be completely cleaned of broken glass. Wear old gloves to protect your hands. Pull out as many pieces as you can. The rest will come out as soon as you scrape away the old putty.

You may have to slice away the putty with a knife or chisel. Be careful that you do not remove any wood. If the putty is very difficult to remove, soften it with a hot soldering iron.

The rabbet (the groove in which the glass fits) must be thoroughly clean. Make certain that all the old glazier's points have been taken out. These are tiny triangular pieces of metal. Even tiny bits of old putty should be removed since these may cause the new glass to crack when pressed into the rabbet.

When the sash is clean, brush it with linseed oil. This will prevent the new putty from drying out right away. Even if you use glazier's compound—far superior to putty—use linseed oil anyway.

Take a small bit of putty or glazier's compound and roll it out thinly in your hand to about the thickness of a small pencil.

PRESS THIS ribbon of putty into the channel and then set the new piece of glass in this bed of putty. This provides a tight seal.

Now put in the glazier's points. If the old ones are rusty or bent, get new points. Press them flat against the glass and work the points toward the wood. Use the edge of a chisel or putty knife to do this.

The points hold the glass in place while you put in the rest of the putty. Roll more putty in your hands, making pencil-sized strips. Press this strip of putty into place along the edge of the glass so there is a continuous joint.

Bevel the putty with a putty knife. Press the knife into the corner and move it along the putty with a firm, fast stroke. This will cut off a strip of putty along the glass farthest from the sash. Check from the other side of the window to see that the putty is still not too high. Remove any excess.

Use a turpentine-soaked rag to clean off the putty-encased glass. If linseed oil putty was used, wait several days for it to harden before painting. Glazing compound remains pliable and can be painted over any time.

Plan for Spring in Autumn

When leaves start to turn, visit your local nursery. You'll have more colorful landscaping if you do. Trees and shrubs do vary in their fall foliage color, even within the same species and varieties. It pays to check the fall colors of plants and trees you plan to add to your landscaping.

The reason is simple. Plants that have vivid-colored foliage in the fall tend to have the same more vivid coloration as they mature. A brilliant scarlet maple as a sapling, compared to others less vivid, carries the same genetic qualities as it grows older. Pick your winners this fall.

Here's fall check list:

We like balled and burlaped trees and shrubs the best. They're more convenient to handle. Nurserymen prune roots and branches as they bring plants along from seedlings. This builds vigor, creates fuller more attractive shapes.

Best time to transplant is just after deciduous shrubs and trees have dropped their leaves. The sooner after this you transplant, the more chance for new roots to develop. Even though leaves are gone, root growth continues until ground freezes hard.

Dig the hole one-half again as large and deep as the root ball. If soil is poor, mix in leaf mulch, peat moss and humus with the topsoil before you fill in around the root ball.

Add water to settle soil, then add more soil and tamp down well to eliminate air pockets. Leave a saucer-shaped depression around the plant to catch rain.

Mulch with peat moss, straw or other material. This helps prevent heaving from frost; also retains soil moisture.

Prune away broken and extra branches. Brace new trees against wind.

Glass 'Sandwich' Provides Insulation For Windows

Some homeowners feel that to safeguard their houses against heat loss they must reduce the size of their windows. If so, they are sacrificing aesthetics for economy unnecessarily.

Today, with the availability of insulating glass in all types of stock wood windows it is possible to enjoy wide expanses of glass, extensive views of the outdoors and dramatic window styles and still keep heat loss and fuel bills to a minimum.

NOT TOO LONG ago, insulating glass was available in only a few window styles. Now it can be obtained in any ponderosa pine unit, including sliding patio doors, bowers and bays, casements, awnings, hopper and double-hung.

Insulating glass, also called double glazing, consists of two separate panes sealed together at the edges, leaving a cushion of air between. It is this "dead" air that serves as insulation.

Combined with wood sash, also a "natural" insulator because wood is a low conductor of heat and cold, these windows offer maximum protection against both heat loss and condensation. The ponderosa pine units also have factory-applied weatherstripping which prevents air infiltration.

The worth of this triple protection is attested to by heating experts. In electrically-heated homes, for example, where full thermal insulation is stipulated as a building requirement for most efficient use of the heating system, wood windows with weatherstripping and either insulating glass or storm sash are recommended.

EXCEPT IN extremely cold climates, the use of insulating glass makes storm sash unnecessary. This affords a bonus of low maintenance since it does away with the need to hang and remove storm windows seasonally and leaves fewer window surfaces to be washed.

In general, insulating glass units only cost about 15 percent more than single-pane windows with separate storm sash.

Savings and Loans Associations Gains Increase Fivefold in Year

Net savings gains at the nation's savings and loan associations during August, 1967, were estimated at $680 million, more than five times the gain registered in August a year ago, the United States Savings and Loan League recently announced.

In its monthly Trends Report, the national trade association for the savings and loan business said that while rising by a near-record amount during August, the pace of savings growth did show some signs of easing.

"This gain was over five times that of a year earlier, and topped the increase seen in August 1965 by 23 per cent," the publication said. "However, the increase of last month fell short of the August record of $751 million attained in that month of 1964."

(The data contained in the Trends Report for September are based on reports received from 457 associations holding 25 per cent of the total assets of the savings and loan business.)

The League publication said that while August of 1967 was the second best August on record, July was also a near-record month. The two most recent months stand in contrast to the four from March through June, 1967, when gains reached all-time highs.

"The step down from record to 'next to record' increases suggests that the quick pace in savings growth characteristic of the first half of '67 may have slowed a bit," the Trends said.

The publication also pointed out that on a seasonally adjusted basis, savings in August rose by $845 million. This represents a retreat from the high rate of growth of a billion dollars or more a month that prevailed during the first half of this year.

"The good but not record savings results in August brought the increase at associations for the first eight months of the year to slightly more than $6.8 billion, a new high for this time span," the Trends reported. "The previous eight month record in growth was set in 1963 when savings rose by $6.7 billion. The January to August growth of 1966 amounted to only $742 million."

In August, mortgage lending at associations moved up past the important benchmark of $2 billion, rising to a total of $2.3 billion. This was up 75 per cent from August of 1966 and well ahead of the same month of 1966 and 1965. However, lending, like savings, became the second best on record because the loan volume did not reach the high mark of $2.4 billion set in August, 1963.

The Trends Report stated that the contraction of lending volume of July and its equally quick expansion in August give evidence of the cautious attitudes of savings and loan executives. Said the report:

"They (savings and loan managers) held back on lending in July to determine the flow of savings in that critical post-earnings month. Once July savings appeared to be firm and were followed by favorable flows in August, lending then stepped up."

When to Remodel and How Much?

Fall is an especially good time to remodel your maturing home or, to add to a fairly new home that no longer fills its family's needs. This was pointed out today by George Arquilla, Jr., president of the Home Builders Association of Chicago.

"In the fall," said Arquilla, "the children are back to school and away from the confusion of daytime construction. Both business and social activities resume, providing a respite for the adults weary of summer heat and the children of interrupting vacation trips are over."

"When should a home be remodeled?" Arquilla both asked and answered. "When it no longer meets the needs of its occupants, but is still a sound structure in a stable neighborhood."

"A FAMILY'S need for space has a way of growing," he continued. "Children begin maturing and wishing for their own rooms, instead of doubling up with younger ones. Or, a newly widowed grandmother may need a refuge until the complete readjustment to life alone. These are just a few of the reasons why families consider adding to what started out as a perfectly adequate home."

"In order to save on construction costs, basements sometimes are left unfinished:

and later, when funds become available, a laundry room, recreation room, family-TV room, or specific hobby room may be built."

"An amateur horticulturist, a wife with a great thumb, may want a sunporch or an outright greenhouse conservatory. This too, is the time to close in that porch before another winter cools the ardor of the family coach."

"IN OTHER words, when to remodel is a question best answered in terms of the specific needs of specific families."

"Naturally, you ask yourself, 'How much should be spent for remodeling?' How many dollars would be a wise investment in the house as it now is? How to avoid putting more money into your house than it is really worth? Fortunately, there is a general formula. Suppose that your house is four to seven years old. Write down the initial cost; write the present value; take the numerical difference between these two figures and multiply it by two. This is a guideline for the amount of worthwhile remodeling for your home."

"Now, if your home is eight to twelve years old, write the two costs, new and present, and use the numerical difference between those figures. Don't multiply this difference figure by any factor. The figure alone, represents a rough guide to the dollars that would be wisely spent on remodeling your home."

"ADMITTEDLY, any past mathematical formula needs to be examined for possible exceptions or special family reasons. So home owners considering remodeling must decide how important additional comfort, convenience, and resale value are to their family."

"By this time, hopefully, you have arrived at what you consider to be the proper amount to spend for remodeling your case. What do you do next?"

"The answer is quite simple: select an inquiry to the Home Builders Association of Chicago. This is an association composed of reputable builders throughout the greater Chicago and suburban areas. You will be put in touch with some of the remodelers who are pledged to do a wide scope of others requiring high quality workmanship and responsibility of customers."

"A final step is to get remodeling estimates from one or more firms, and then confer with local lending institutions to arrange the financing, construction loan or remodeling money, if needed."

When Buying Carpets, Points To Remember

Before you buy carpeting, fix these five points in your mind.

The basic five things to remember are: the intended location of the carpet, your family's living habits, your color choice, your style preference and, of course, your budget.

For recreation rooms, nylon offers strong resistance to wear and tear. If you expect a heavy traffic over the new carpet, remember that wool has the highest resilience of all carpet fibers, and has the ability to "bounce back." Man-made fibers, on the other hand, are best for kitchen carpeting, since they resist soaking up spills. The increasing use of outdoor carpeting in patio areas and similar places may induce you to these latest additions in the field.

Color and style preferences will dominate your selection. It's worth keeping in mind that if there are children or pets, a neutral color, tweedy mixtures, and twist weaves, are all more sensible than light or bright hues and solid tints which will show up every stain or bit of dirt.

Device Protects Home Wiring From Lightning

Home owners can now protect their electric wiring and appliances from lightning surges. Most lightning damage claims arise from such electrical "tidal waves," not from direct hits by lightning bolts. When lightning strikes near power lines, it produces such high voltages that these enter the home through the electrical system in the structure, often causing the wiring, damaging or destroying the appliances, and causing fires.

The inexpensive home lightning protector developed by the General Electric laboratory studies in Pittsfield, Mass., can be installed by any qualified electrician in a few minutes at the service entrance switch (fuse box). The device, about the size of a baseball, protects by automatically diverting the surge, whether caused by lightning or anything else, to an electrical ground. And your home wiring remains intact. Lights don't even dim or flick out momentarily while the diversion takes place. The protector is then ready to work over and over, without replacement. Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., lists it.

Kitchen in Limelight

The kitchen remains the hub of the home. Since a homemaker spends many hours in this important room, the trend has been to put a great deal of thought into its decoration.

Builders find a well-designed kitchen in their model homes helps speed sales. Those who build luxury homes report that 90 per cent of the ones they build include space for dining in the kitchen.

Much remodeling starts in this room. In redecorating, designers advise working for an uncluttered look. This is especially necessary when the room is small.

IF THE BUDGET is limited, a new paint job or a patterned wallpaper that you can apply yourself is a good start. Painted pegboard to hold copper moka, pots and pans is an inexpensive way to dress up a dull kitchen.

These decorative touches help when remodeling is a step-by-step process because of the family budget. After painting or wallpapering, look to the floor. If the budget allows, start with a new floor covering to set the color.

Effective are the new cushioned vinyls that are comfortable to stand and walk on and also provide some sound reduction and insulation. A herringbone brick pattern (the Mannington Mills) in antique red and white, for example, goes well with a kitchen that has a slight period flavor or may mix with sharply modern.

ANOTHER innovation in dressing up the kitchen and aiding the homemaker are new kitchen sink designs. Colored sinks now come in oval, round and rectangular, and one- or two-purposed double round bowls designed by American Standard, comes in colors to fit any decor.

Still with budget in mind, designers also suggest covering undistinguished pieces of furniture with a colorful vinyl print. A serving cart or handy work table may be dressed up with the vinyl bonded to fit. You may want to match or co-ordinate a table with the countertop covered with a vinyl pattern.

The secret to good budget decorating of a kitchen is to select pictures of kitchens you like. These in color give an idea of what the total effect of a red or yellow room, for example, will be. Model kitchens also suggest storage ideas to adapt for your needs.

2 Village Boards Meet to Study Weller Creek Flood Cure

Members of the village boards of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect will hold a combined breakfast meeting Saturday to study the problem of flooding in Weller Creek.

The meeting which will be held at the Old Orchard Country Club, will center upon the financial and technical feasibility of constructing retention basins along Weller Creek in accordance with a 1963 report of the Bauer Engineering Corp.

MR. BAUER reported that the Mount Prospect village board has approved a $400,000 study of the Weller Creek, either alone or in conjunction with other smaller basins. Also recommended is using the Mount Prospect Golf Course as a flood plain in times of emergency.

Arlington Heights Mayor Joseph Woods says the meeting will be an "exploratory" one, but the board would like to know what the study would cost.

WOODS says the study might want to spend. Woods says the plan if adopted would be expensive and probably would require participation of the local, state, and federal governments.

The largest basin being considered, lying north of Central, could be used for recreational purposes. Woods says the report recommends using the basin for activities such as boating.

THE OTHER alternative for the study would be to cover it in the future, report the study would be expensive and probably would require participation of the local, state, and federal governments.

The largest basin being considered, lying north of Central, could be used for recreational purposes. Woods says the report recommends using the basin for activities such as boating.

One of the projects that the village and the commission have started is a thorough survey of flooding in Mount Prospect, including a study of all residents in the area.

THE COMMISSION plan to conduct the data received from the questionnaire to find the extent and type of flooding experienced by the Mount Prospect residents, and recommend a practical course of action to be taken.

Hyatt said the board was the most thorough study ever made of the flooding problem, but was three years out of date. He said the study should be updated to include revised data on the population of the watershed due to the increased population. Hyatt said, "Whether the commission would ask the Mount Prospect village board for an updated study, Hyatt would not comment."

The two boards met will be members of both village boards, and representatives of the Illinois State Parks Commission, Chairman Fred Hill. Mount Prospect has undertaken a study of its own to find ways of preventing the recurrence of the damage caused by last June's flood.

WORLD REPORT $340,000 Fire Destroys Library

By United Press International

MARION, Ill. — A $340,000 fire today destroyed the temporary home of the Shawnee regional library which served 10 Southern Illinois counties.

The building was located on Illinois 37 just north of the town of Marion.

Cause of the blaze was not determined.

Japen Ubel, library director, said the 25,000 volumes destroyed in the building were valued at about $175,000 and that another $40,000 in equipment was destroyed.

First Chief Leonard Dugan said the building was damaged by two large gas heaters in the library kitchen of the one-story building which was rented for $600 a month.

The library board plans to construct a permanent library at a cost of more than $100,000 on an acre site near Carterville but it is not expected to be completed until late next year.

Mystery Death Investigated

ST. LOUIS — St. Louis police control personnel today began an investigation of four days that reportedly would uncover the secret of the strange, gruesome death of Mrs. Vicki Powell, 57.

Mrs. Powell was found dead in her home on Thursday night. The left side of her face had been eaten away to the bone. The victim's four dogs were in the apartment.

Peterson Nord Oliver, the prosecuting officer, said rats could also have inflicted the wounds.

Bank Loses $2 Million in Damage Suit

By Charles Merritt

The First National National Bank lost its second largest suit today when the Illinois Supreme Court for a rehearing ordered a $2 million damage suit against the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association withdrawn.

The bank may now take its case to the U.S. Supreme Court. Douglas Duggan, executive vice president, of the bank was not available for comment yesterday.

The First National was seeking $2 million for damages allegedly caused by installing before the village board a plan for the new bank building at Duane and Campbell.

Landlocked Lot a Problem

The Arlington Heights Legal Committee met last night to discuss the problem involved in the Martin & Zenkel petition. Martin and Zenkel, who own vacant property on the corner of Duane and Olive, plan to subdivide the parcel into three lots for homes.

But in the center of the block is a large landlocked lot owned by Realtor George Meyer that will have to be provided with a front access before it can be developed. It was therefore suggested that a 25-ft. strip of the Martin and Zenkel land be set aside to accommodate future access to the center of the block.

Residents of the block object to this, however, not only because they recently paid heavy taxes for the paving of the lot, but also because access into the block would greatly increase the depth of their lot.

NOT ONLY would the 25 ft. be severed from Martin and Zenkel lot, but 25 ft. would have to be taken from Meyer's vacant lot next to it to provide access to Joseph Steinhilber's vacant lot, at least 50 wide. Carrying the commission and Town is the village's chief engineer. Day reporter Charles Merritt announced $2,500. BOLI Begins Central-Kirkhoff Hearings

The Board of Local Improvements has held four public hearings on the proposed Walnut - Mitchell - Highland Central - Kirkhoff Triangular Improvements.

Robert Bishop, Mayor, who presided over the special session, said that the improvements should be expedited to those benefiting by the improvements, said he tentatively estimated it at $18,000.

The improvements include (1) widening of Duane (2) water, (3) sanitary sewer, and (4) storm sewer.

He was the price, $24, just as he was getting ready for a city was to be the national conference of public works directors.

With the last of the session, $2,547, there is a public hearing. Third came John, Bruce, village planning director, $2,547.

Other close estimates included Harold Best's $2,540 and Charles Turner's $2,547. Best is the village building

Harper Ground Breaking Sunday

State Senator John A. Graham (R-Arlington Heights) will preside over ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Harper Grounds in Rolling Meadows on Sunday, Oct. 8, at 10 a.m.

The new Harper Grounds will be a 10-acre site on the corner of Duane and Olive, plan to subdivide the parcel into three lots for homes.

But in the center of the block is a large landlocked lot owned by Realtor George Meyer that will have to be provided with a front access before it can be developed. It was therefore suggested that a 25-ft. strip of the Martin and Zenkel land be set aside to accommodate future access to the center of the block.

Residents of the block object to this, however, not only because they recently paid heavy taxes for the paving of the lot, but also because access into the block would greatly increase the depth of their lot.

NOT ONLY would the 25 ft. be severed from Martin and Zenkel lot, but 25 ft. would have to be taken from Meyer's vacant lot next to it to provide access to Joseph Steinhilber's vacant lot, at least 50 wide. Carrying the

The notebook is beginning to bulge again with items that remain uncollected because of busy telephone lines or lack of time. The one uncollected item is the corner of Arlington Heights Rd. and Campbell St. has another bend from being bumped.

It would be interesting someday to find out how many drivers have turned the corner and missed seeing that sign, since it was placed there not too many months ago.

The Prospect Heights Community Church at Glenhurst and Willow will hold a two-day long Running Sale. They are still anxious to collect anything that can be sold on Tuesday, Oct. 3 from nine to nine and on Wednesday, Oct. 4 from nine until 11. Mrs. Betty Tice of W. Olive is committee chairman. The goal is to contribute to the "Bargain Gallery" in Mrs. Corby's home at C-5-8221.

Dialogue

"Who could possibly want to go to the moon?" the lady asked.

"I would," the man replied.

"Why her?"

"Curiosity. It would be interesting, especially if we find that someone else was there first."

"Who would have been there first?"

"I don't know, that would be the interesting part."

"Well, I think it's silly for a man to want to go up and walk around on the moon, when he can stay home and watch it on TV."

Actually, such has been curious about the rest of the universe for at least as long as he has been writing things down. Ancient Babylonians told of flying to the moon on giant, winged birds.

A Syrian by the name of Lucian once described moon creatures met by Odysseus in a spacefaring voyage in a satirical work.

But man found out how to go off the ground he was coming from long before the moon.

After Callisto invented the telescope and got a better look at the moon, Bishop Francis Godwin wrote of an imaginary steam-driven chariot ride to the moon.

And there was Jules Verne, who was 100 years ahead of his time when he wrote of a space capsule that orbited the moon, came back to earth and splashed down in the ocean.

Then there was Lt. G. Webb with his invaders from Mars and German novelist Kurd Lasswitz wrote of a Martian space satellite, manned by aliens from outer space.

Dr. Robert Goddard pioneered in rocket development. Arthur C. Clarke, 1930s. His neighbors said the experiments were a fire hazard, but the Germans took him seriously (we didn't) and the results were the V-2's.

German V-1 and V-2 rockets that landed on England.

That all led to the first Russian Sputnik, orbited Oct.

...with George Hamilton

4, 1957 and the changes in our own technology that followed. Now we're talking about landing men on the moon by 1970 and before the country is out we begin to have astronauts landing on Mars.

"Who do we expect to land on Mars?" the lady asked.

"Who knows? The main problem, maybe we'll find the remains of a long dead civilization and perhaps they left a message for us."

"What kind of a message?"

"Oh, something like, 'We are all meeting at a new place we call earth. There she is, fresh and the most beautiful, while the pollution we have belated here on Mars.'"

Turning Out Homemakers

Is Dist. 214 "mothering" its students? Edward Fischer says it is. And he is the man behind the whole program.

Fischer is co-ordinator for the department of art, industrial arts, music and home economics.

He and members of the home economics staff in the district gave a presentation of the home economics curriculum and the activities of the students during Monday's Board of Education meeting.

"I like today's home economics," he said.

He said the mothers to give instruction to their children as they did when we were kids," Fischer told board members.

"That was a definite role and part of the home of parents. It is not so today and the school is taking over that role," he said.

We teach enrichment for family living and child care.

We teach them to be intelligent in terms of making decisions on home management of money, and the ability to assume responsibility as good consumers," he said.

Giving presentation to the board were Mrs. Allie Smith of Prospect High School who explained the curriculum of the home economics program;

Merly Stiles of Forest View High School who spoke on the consumer education course; Mrs. Dorothy Schaff of Forest View who gave the board members a explanation of the home economics work situation group at her school; and Marian Tustin of Wheeling High School who spoke on the field of art, music and industrial education.

COLUMBIAS offered in the home economics program include: clothing homemaking, dressmaking, tailoring, preparation of family meals, creative cooking, housing, home decoration and child care and guidance.

Dist. 214 Board Member Frank Rogers (second) is surrounded by members of the home economics department of the district three left in right: Carolyn Zander of Forest View High School, department co-ordinator; Dorothy Schaff of Forest View High; Merly Stiles of Arlington High; Marian Smith of Wheeling High; Allie Smith of Prospect High; and Marian Tustin, Carolyn Wenzel and Marian Smith all of Wheeling High.

None of the courses are required in the academic program and Fischer said approximately 10 per cent of the students in the district are enrolled in the program.

He said most college-bound students "can't find room" in their schedules for the added course of home economics.

He said the same is true in the field of art, music and industrial education.

The objectives of the home economics department include the teaching of:

—Values in group meaning and direction.

—Enrichment of personal and family life through appreciation and use of arts, science and home living.

—Lamentation of family problems in relation to: knowledge, attitudes, motivation, ability, attitudes, knowledge, service time and money.

—Ability to think critically, analytically and creatively.

—Responsibility to self, home and community.

The group seems to emphasize that not only are homemaking skills taught, but also directives were given to prepare the student for community living.

Reasons persons, including bankers, personnel directors, lawyers, and lobbyists are invited to the classroom to speak to the students on various phases of home living.

Some courses teach the "social graces" such as a correct table setting, proper manners to "pour at a bar" and co-ordination of home decorating.

In the five years since disbursement of excess funds began at Wheeling Township meetings, grade school districts and other organizations have received nearly $800,000.

The disbursement authorized this spring in the Wheeling Township meeting totaled $140,000. Nearly $50,000 remains in surplus funds for later distribution.

Disbursements began in the spring of 1963 after the Illinois General Assembly authorized Cook County Townships to make a small withholding as the collector of estate taxes. There were $90,000 in surplus in the spring of 1962, $100,000 in 1963, $125,000 in 1964, $170,000 in 1965, $190,000 in 1966 and $205,175 in 1967.

Prospect Seeking Cracks In Forest View's Defense

BY RALPH NOVAK

Both Forest View Coach Bob Scott and Prospect's Don Williams are predicting a hard-fought, conservative game when their teams meet Saturday, but each thinks that his offense may be ready to break loose.

Neither the Falcons nor the Knights has yet shown a consistent offense. Prospect was shut out 20-0 by North Chicago in its opener and managed only 13 total yards gained in losing to Arlington last week. While Forest View, blasted 14-0 by Deerfield, in its first start, rolled up a 194 count on Elk Grove last week, all three of its touchdowns were set up by defensive recoveries deep in Cardinal territory. "ONE OF THESE DAYS we're going to score, and you can really never tell when that will be," Williams said. "What is making it difficult to get the offense under way, Williams said, is the lack of starting quarterback Mike Clayton's experience. "He's a good student of football, and he's improving rapidly, but he's still inexperienced and makes a few errors, as any young quarterback has to do," Williams said. Though Clayton's left leg has recovered from a blow that forced him off the field last Saturday, Williams said he doesn't expect his young quarterback to throw many more than the six passes he tried.

"When he gets a little more confidence in his ability to throw, we'll throw more," the Prospect coach added. SCOTT SAID he's planning no tactical changes for the week's game, but he's working on a possible 11 fundamental offensive principles and improving on them for 60 yards and caught 25 pass touchdowns. He said a halfback last week after opening the season at quarterback, but he's still again this week. Scott said Mike Morris, who replaced Ron Traub at left halfback, will have to throw three passes in the last two games.

Mid-Suburban Conference has a wide open.

"It's the team that makes the last mistake and has the fewest injuries that's going to win it," he said. WILLIAMS isn't giving anyone away, either, and most on likelihood of the Knights letting down. "I'm not making any predictions," he said. "I'm just saying we were playing over our heads against him last week from letting down," Williams said. After his team pulled out the win over Prospect in the last 18 seconds last week, Walter said he "didn't" think they (the Knights) would be that good," adding that "Prospect actually played well in its ability."

Fremd Still Wins Cardinals To Tackle Vikings

Arlington football coach Bob Walter, whose Cardinals outplayed an upset by Prospect last week by a score of 20-0, is trying to prepare his team for Saturday's game with Fremd. The Arlington coach said his team's main strength is in "perk" up the offense, and said it will play a first in the game.

Walter said, "But basically, we like to pass, and I still believe in a passing game."

The Cardinals should not be missing anyone because of injuries Saturday, but Walter said he will probably use junior Jim Shannon at both defensive and offensive line and more than he has in the first two games, and Dan Seitz, who has been performing at tackle and linebacker, may also take at defense.

FREM'D WAS put out of the game early in the first quarter last week and spent the last three periods trying to catch up—unsuccessfully. The Viking managed only 142 yards against the Wildcat defense, 61 rushing and 81 passing.

SPRINGER got in the game for just two pass plays and missed on both.

FULL BACK Mike Glosenski is the top rookie running back. Glosenski powered for 43 yards in 10 tries last week.

Grid Consensus

Arlington 38 - Fremd 7

The Cardinals have been working hard since Prospect threw a scare last week and should be able to win this one. They have yet to develop a passing attack, but the Cardinals' defense and defense should be far too much for Fremd, which has allowed 59 points in two games. The Cardinals should be equal to the task, also. Since Fremd is yet to score.

Fremd View 19 - Prospect 7

The Knights have been working hard since Prospect threw a scare last week and should be able to win this one. They have yet to develop a passing attack, but the Cardinals' defense and defense should be far too much for Fremd, which has allowed 59 points in two games. The Cardinals should be equal to the task, also. Since Fremd is yet to score.

Whitney 28 - Conant 6

The Wildcats could really run away with this one if Ron King could hit a quarterback. Wheeling showed strong running and sufficient passing last week and the defense has tightened up considerably. Conant hasn't been able to score big, though its defense has been adequate. Check this one out to overwhelming Wheeling power.

Elk Grove 19 - Palatine 6

The Cardinals' offense played just about as well as the defense in this one. Palatine used Conant last week, but just hasn't been the horses this time. Elk Grove may have trouble with the defense, but it should have enough to go over the top. The Falcons are to be scored on.

St. Ignace 38 - LaSalle North 7

Donnie Palatine won a 100-yard rushing game last week for the Lions. LaSalle North showed a strong defense, but the Cardinals' defense should be far too much for Fremd, which has allowed 59 points in two games. The Cardinals should be equal to the task, also. Since Fremd is yet to score.

Ron King to Guide Revised Wildcats at Conant Sat.

Wheeling will have a lot of new faces in its lineup Saturday against Conant and will face a tough task at new positions.

Conant time for the sophomore preliminary at Conant will be held on Saturday.

Ron King, fresh from the junior varsity, will be making his debut as quarterback.

"He's been looking real good," said Coach Bill Dalenki.

TO MAKE ROOM for King, who Dalenki expects to be the best quarterback in the area, however, Dalenki has moved to a running back position.

"He's been looking real good," said Coach Bill Dalenki.

Also up from the junior varsity is Greg Crisp, who will play at tackle on both offense and defense, and Keith Lewis, who will move in at linebacker, replacing Benable, who now is a safety.

Palatine Pirates to Test Grenadiers' Passing Power

Elk Grove and Palatine will meet in a second game of the season in a Mid-Suburban League game. The opening kickoff will be at noon.

GRENADIER Coach Dick Mudge has decided to go with Larry Fahl at quarterback, but still has five other positions that are up for grabs.

Fahl was the job after a battle of more than a year with Jim Velt.

THE PASS has been the Grenadiers' chief weapon. Fahl, who ranks second among area throwers with 21 completions for 210 yards, likes to try McCallen, Delarge and halfback John Knopf.

Knopf is leading all area receivers with nine catches for 107 yards. Mudge has five other receivers who are up for grabs.

Horoscope FOR SATURDAY

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) - Don't take minor problems too seriously. There may be a tendency to exaggerate the today, so don't believe all you hear.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 23) - Don't be afraid to take the bull by the horns if you have good relations with a friend dependent on it. Make it a labor of love.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 - Dec. 23) - The time for making amends is now. To delay further the standing of a friendly, apologetic hand could be regrettable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 - Jan. 20) - Make plans for the week and now before it's upon you. A good day for heading in a partner - with patience!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) - Choose your method of operation carefully today, for the success of your operation depends on how rather than on what you do.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 21) - Professional action should appear less knotty at this point. R. C. C. is a accomplishment should begin to get you in the limelight.

ARIES (Mar. 22 - Apr. 20) - It's your turn to shine and when you can, for the opportunity to do so may arise soon again. A good day.

Taurus (Apr. 21 - May 21) - Be mindful of the desires of others as you go about your business today. Your success could cause another's failure.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) - Make it a point to get all the helpful information you can regarding a planned project. Prepare for it well.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) - A day for calling a spade a spade. Too much tact and diplomacy at this point could mean you to lose your advantage.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) - Whatever she you do today, don't neglect to keep parents abreast of your plan for the future. Make arrangements suitable to all.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) - A day of clearing up for the Virgo who has prepared himself to meet the problems at hand. Work with a will.
